

COLOR ME ORGANWISE

Hi there,

Today, I write you feeling a little embarrassed. I got silent lunch for talking too much during class. Yikes! We were working on an activity sheet in math, and I finished early. Instead of reading like my teacher suggested, I decided to talk to my friend next to me. What was the big deal? We were both done with the work, so we figured we weren't doing anything that wrong. Well, it turns out we were, because another classmate wasn't done with his work yet, and he couldn't concentrate with our whispering right next to him. As fun as school is, school is here for us to learn, and we interrupted his learning environment by talking. So I definitely learned my lesson. A little bit of extra talking during class meant that I had a very long silent lunch. Learn from my mistakes and be sure to stay quiet so everyone can think!

Keep breathing,
Windy
