

COLOR ME ORGANWISE

Hey everybody,

This Spring Break has been very interesting. At first, I was bummed I was the only one of my friends not going out of town on vacation. Instead of vacation, we were supposed to help my grandparents move into their new house. I was dreading moving all the boxes, but I'm so glad I did, as I learned so much about my family! As I unpacked the boxes, my grandparents told me stories of my dad, aunts, uncles, cousins, and even about their own childhoods. I realized these weren't just boxes of old books and pictures, these were boxes full of memories! I'm so thankful that I wasn't at the beach, or I wouldn't have gotten to learn so much about my very own family. It was truly a Spring Break I'll never forget!

Have a great day,
Hardy Heart
